Providing Accessible Solutions

The Climate Crisis can feel too large to address. This is why we offer small solutions that can have big impact. In 2022 we created a free 8 video series on Carbon Gardening, with both English and Spanish facilitators, to make hands-on climate actions readily available to our community.

Training Climate Action Leaders

Our second cohort of the Petaluma Equitable Climate Action Coalition are participating in training in collaboration with DAO and Equity First Consulting to provide recommendations into how the City of Petaluma can prioritize policies, programs, and resources to address transportation equitably.

We also brought onboard a new PECAC Program Coordinator, recent Leadership Institute and PECAC graduate Ri Bussey!

Spreading Our Model for Change

This year we published Take Heart, Take Action, a book about Daily Acts work and the world-changing power of small actions and small groups, written for grassroots activists, community leaders, and everyday people who seek a new path to personal and community transformation.

The Book will amplify our inspiring message, models and approach to unleash the power of community.
